

Some notes on 'drone piece for sandpaper and drum'

A piece that invites an exploration of repetition, boredom, fine-tuning one's attention and timbral-listening. The repetition of the piece finally punctuated by the instruments destruction.